Technology Explorers

Technology explorers are devoted to driving technology forward by asking a simple question: "What if?" They provide the tools and infrastructure that power our teams and products, while pushing the boundaries of what banking can be. These innovators are energized by the opportunity to harness the power of cutting-edge technology to improve the lives of our customers.

Grow your career at a place where being yourself is the most valuable thing you can be.

Capital One Canada is an information-based technology company that just happens to do credit cards. We focus on customer-first solutions, and we're united by this common goal. Our teams are filled with associates who are curious and passionate about the dynamic work they're doing – and we're dedicated to helping them feel their best. With an inclusive culture, outstanding benefits and excellent work-life balance, you'll discover that Capital One is committed to helping you live your best life.
